MANILA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT AUTHORITY

TERMINAL REASSIGNMENTS

Customs

If customs wants to impose an importation tax for items you're bringing to Palau, explain that you're only transiting and show your outbound ticket. If they make it difficult, suggest leaving the item with them to collect later.

Transiting

If transiting through Manila to reach Palau, it is recommended to choose an airline arriving at Terminal 1 due to poor terminal connectivity at Ninoy Aquino International Airport. Allow 3-4 hours for transit from Terminal 2 or 3 due to heavy traffic. Luggage must be collected and rechecked even for transit.

Getting to Terminal 1

To get to Terminal 1, there are two options:

Recommended - Take the free Terminal Transfer Service (Bus). Look for the sign or ask for directions to the bus stop. The bus service is not very frequent (roughly at 30-minute intervals) and has limited space. Queue early to avoid missing it. Confirm with the bus driver or warden that you are boarding the correct bus.

Take a metered yellow taxi from the accredited counter. Inform the staff that you need to go to Terminal 1. Terminal 3 is the farthest, and the journey can take 60-90 minutes due to traffic. Terminal 2 is the closest, but travel time can still be 30-60 minutes. The metered fare may vary depending on traffic and terminal, but it should not exceed 350 PHP. Make sure the meter is on. If traveling in a group, prepare to share a taxi and fit only two people with luggage.

Already at Terminal 1

If you arrive at Terminal 1:

Allow 2 hours transit time.

Notify the transfer desk for assistance in collecting luggage and checking in for your Palau flight without going through immigration/customs.

If you're not eligible for this assistance, you'll have to clear immigration (write "transit" on your form), collect your baggage, go through customs, proceed to the top floor departure hall, and complete the regular check-in process.

Checking in at NAIA

NAIA Terminal 1

Prepare your outbound tickets from Palau and the Philippines as they may be asked for during check-in procedures.

It's recommended to arrive at the check-in counter early, as queues can start forming up to 45 minutes before the scheduled opening time, which is the same for other airlines in Terminal 1. Arriving early for check-in allows you to relax in the departure concourse with a drink instead of waiting in a long line, making it a rewarding experience.

Note that there are no rest rooms in the departure check-in hall, but there are two outside that require re-entry via security checks.

United Airlines has a strict weight limit of 50lbs/23kg per bag, and their hand luggage policy is more generous. Ensure you review United Airlines' policies and have a printed copy to show proof that your items are not restricted.

Airport security in Manila may make things difficult, so be aware of the liquids, aerosols, and battery restrictions. Check in duty-free liquids with your luggage and purchase any liquid items in Manila's duty-free shops while waiting for your flight to Palau.

Do go to the boarding gate slightly ahead of the boarding time printed on your boarding pass. There is an additional security check done before you enter the boarding gate's waiting room.

We understand that your time and investment in a holiday are valuable, and we aim to provide you with as many dives as possible while ensuring your safety.

In order to prioritize safety, it is important to make sure you maintain proper rest and hydration during your diving adventure.

We recognize that although you have learned about safety during your scuba course/s, the excitement and anticipation of a diving holiday can sometimes cause us to neglect our own readiness for a dive.
