Travelling to Puerto Princesa

For your cruise embarkation, it is recommended to arrive on the same day as the embarkation date. The ideal arrival time is between 14:00 to 17:00.

Puerto Princesa (IATA Code: PPS) is located on Palawan Island and serves as the primary airport. This means there are multiple airlines offering at least three daily flights, particularly from Manila or Cebu, which are two of the main international airports. If you are arriving in the Philippines through any other international airport or seaport, you should still be able to find flights to Puerto Princesa.

The main airlines that operate flights to Puerto Princesa are:

- Philippines Airlines/PAL Express
- Cebu Pacific Air
- AirAsia

Flight Recommendations

note before: Kindly refer to the airlines' latest schedules for accurate information at the time of your booking.

As of February 8, 2017, the arrival flights from Manila to Puerto Princesa are as follows: Cebu Pacific 643, Philippines Airlines 2785, and AirAsia 430.

For the recommended departure flights from Puerto Princesa to Manila (as of February 8, 2017), we suggest considering Cebu

Pacific 644, Philippines Airlines 1198/2786, and AirAsia 431.

Depending on your flight arrival time, our staff will either meet and collect you from the airport or your hotel. When in Palau, if you need to locate our crew or contact the vessel, please reach out to the Cruise Director directly at +680 770 9198.

Checking in at NAIA

Special Mention

Navigating between terminals at the Ninoy Aquino International Airport in Manila can be a challenging experience, so it's crucial to confirm which terminal you will be arriving at or departing from. This will help you prepare for your transit and avoid potential frustration and delays.

Terminal 1, 2 and 3: International and Domestic

Terminal 4: Domestic Only

Airport Transfers

If you find yourself arriving and needing to switch terminals to catch your domestic flight to Puerto Princesa (or Cebu), here are some options for you:

1. It is recommended to use the free Terminal Transfer Service (Bus). If you are unable to locate the sign indicating where to catch the bus, kindly ask for directions. Although the bus service is not frequent, it is the most convenient way to reach your terminal. Be sure to join the queue, as the bus has limited space, and missing it means waiting for another 30 minutes. Also, remember to ask the warden or bus driver for assistance.
2. To get a taxi, find the yellow metered and airport-accredited taxi counter and inform the staff that you're going to Terminal 1. Terminal 3 is the farthest and can take 60-90 minutes, while Terminal 2 is the closest but can still take 30-60 minutes due to traffic. Taxi fares may vary depending on traffic and terminal, but yellow taxis are slightly more expensive than regular white taxis. Ensure the meter is on, and for group travel, only two people can fit in one taxi with luggage. Expect to pay no more than PHP250.

Airport Passenger Terminal Fees / Taxes

It is now included when you purchase your air tickets,

Domestic Excess Check-In Luggage Fees

Most of the Airlines charge in the region of PHP200 per KG. Please check with the airlines on their respective websites to obtain the most current information.

In order to prioritize safety, it is important to make sure you maintain proper rest and hydration during your diving adventure.

We recognize that although you have learned about safety during your scuba course/s, the excitement and anticipation of a diving holiday can sometimes cause us to neglect our own readiness for a dive.

Our crew's safety is also important, so we limit the number of dives to four per day, including a night dive, to minimize fatigue and reduce the risk of accidents.
